

Run SMTPMailClient.py on the terminal.

You can see the 'Mail Notification', the time was printed on the terminal and the time was shown at the right bottom.

```
C:\Windows\System32\cmd.exe
Microsoft Windows [Version 10.0.18363.1379]
(c) 2019 Microsoft Corporation. Tüm hakları saklıdır.

D:\Socket-Programming\SMTPMailClient>py -2 SMTPMailClient.py
220 smtp.gmail.com ESMTP m2sm21792740vml.34 - gsmt
250 smtp.gmail.com at your service
220 2.0.0 Ready to start TLS
235 2.7.0 Accepted
250 2.1.0 OK m2sm21792740vml.34 - gsmt
250 2.1.5 OK m2sm21792740vml.34 - gsmt
354 Go ahead m2sm21792740vml.34 - gsmt

=====
The context of the e-mail must be like these
-----
You can check the e-mail with that time: February 21, 2021 21:25:35
Ali Haydar KURBAN
=====

250 2.0.0 OK 1613931936 m2sm21792740vml.34 - gsmt
221 2.0.0 closing connection m2sm21792740vml.34 - gsmt

D:\Socket-Programming\SMTPMailClient>
```

You can see the context of the mail.

Context of the mail was shown on the terminal and context of the real mail are the same.

SMTPMailClient Test

You can check the e-mail with that time: February 21, 2021 21:25:35
Ali Haydar KURBAN